

THE BULLETIN.

OFFICE—Second Street, Opposite
Cavaliers' Photograph Gallery.

MAYSVILLE, THURSDAY, SEP. 18.

Bragg is reported at Glasgow, Kentucky. This point is about one hundred and twenty miles south of Louisville, and thirty or forty west of Bowling Green.

Maj. Gen. O. M. Mitchell has been assigned to the command of the Department of the South, and succeeds Gen. Hunter.

All the cotton stored in Louisville is being shipped to points on the Ohio side. Large quantities are said to be crossing over the river daily.

Strict watch is kept at all the avenues leading to and from Cincinnati, and no one is permitted to leave the city without a pass.

Gen. Green Clay Smith is lying severely sick in Covington, with typhoid fever.

A Soldier named Wm. Kearns, belonging to 37th Illinois regiment, was shot accidentally, in Covington, on last Saturday.

The Fair of the "Mason and Bracken Association," has been postponed.

PAINTFUL ACCIDENT.—On Sunday evening the 7th inst., while Mr. HENRY JOHNSTON, of this city, was handling a gun, it was accidentally discharged, and the ball striking him on the wrist it severed the hand almost entirely from the arm. His hand was afterwards amputated and the wound properly dressed by Drs. SHACKLEFORD and ADAMS.

Gen. Cox's Brigade has gone forward to join the army of Virginia. It numbers 6000 men—six Ohio regiments.

Gen. Cassius M. Clay—has taken command of his brigade, and left for Cumberland Gap.

Illinois has now, it is said, more artillery companies in the field than any other State. More are constantly applying, with no prospect of acceptance.

The estates of Lee and John A. Washington are about to be sold in Virginia under the law requiring payment of direct taxes.

A negro woman one hundred and four years old died in Cincinnati on Tuesday of last week.

C. A. Preston was sworn in, on Thursday last, as Mayor of the City of Covington, Ky., vice our old and esteemed friend Col. John A. Goodson.

Mr. JOHN PENNINE was arrested, near this city, on Saturday, but has been released by giving bond.

On Monday a gentleman by the name of BEST was arrested, and is now confined on the gunboat opposite this city.

By order of General WALLACE, a pontoon bridge has been constructed across the Ohio river, at the foot of Walnut street, Cincinnati.

The Republican Convention in Lancaster County, Penn., have again nominated that old Abolitionist, Thaddeus Stevens, for Congress.

Captain Shurtleff, of Ohio who recently returned to Oberlin, after a captivity with the rebels since the Cross Lanes fight, gives it, as his opinion, that there are four hundred thousand soldiers in Virginia.

A monument to the memory of Prince Albert is to be raised in Coburg, his native town.

It is said that the behavior of the Confederates towards the Union men of the Blue Grass country, is gentlemanly, kind and courteous, and that passes are readily granted to all classes of citizens to go where they please.

FLAX COTTON.—The public is well aware that for many years persons have been engaged in the endeavor to cottonize flax, or in other words so to prepare flaxen fibre that it could be used as a substitute for cotton in the manufacture of cheap cloths, twines, &c. Two years ago the Rhode Island Society for the promotion of domestic industry, offered a premium of $50 for the best bale of Flax Cotton, which should be susceptible of being woven into the ordinary printing cloths by the cotton machinery. Many samples were presented in competition for the prize, but none of them answered the purpose throughout, for which the prize was offered.

A gentleman, says the Cleveland Herald, residing in South Western Ohio has recently succeeded in completely cottonizing flax. He has succeeded in discovering a chemical agent which removes the glutinous property without impairing the strength of the fibre. The retting process, or that process by which the flax is removed, occupies about three days, and the amount retted depends, of course, upon the facilities for retting. It requires no more time to ret ten tons than it does to ret ten pounds, but of course requires more handling.

The machinery employed is the usual, ordinary machinery; the entire secret and success of the process consists in the retting without destroying the strength of the fibre. The article exhibited to us was a very excellent article indeed, and resembled "South Down" wool rather more than it did either flax or cotton. The cost of cottonizing is much less than we had any idea it could possibly be done for.

There will be several bales of this cottonized flax on exhibition at the ensuing State Fair, together with specimens of twine, threads, cloths and printing cloths, and the machinery to prepare it.

The Draft in Ohio has been postponed until the 1st of October.

A Rabbit in a Battle.

AN INCIDENT ON THE BATTLE-FIELD OF MALVERN HILLS.

A full grown rabbit had hid itself away in the copse of a fence, which separated two fields near the center and most exposed portion of the battle-ground. Rabbits are wont to spend the day almost motionless and in seeming dreamy meditation. This one could have had but little thought—if rabbits think—when choosing its place of retreat at early dawn, that ere it was eventide there would be such an unwonted and ruthless disturbance.

During all the preparations for battle made around its lair throughout the forenoon, it nevertheless remained quiet. However, early in the afternoon, when the rage of battle had fairly begun, and shot and shell were falling thick and fast in all directions, a shell chance to burst so near to mislead rabbits hiding-places that he evidently considered it unsafe to tarry longer. So, frightened almost to death, out he springs into the open field, and ran hither and thither with the vain hope of finding a safe retreat. Whichever way it ran, cannons were thundering out their smoke and fire, regiments of men were advancing or changing position, horses galloping here and there, shells bursting, and solid shot tearing up the ground. Some times it would squat down and lie perfectly still, when some new and sudden danger would again start it into motion. Once more it would stop and raise itself as high as possible on its hind legs, and look all round for some place of possible retreat.

At length that part of the field seemed open which lay in the direction opposite from where the battle raged most fiercely. Thither it accordingly ran with all its remaining speed. Unobserved by it, however, a regiment was in that direction, held in reserve, and, like Wellington's at Waterloo, was lying flat on the ground, in order to escape the flying bullets. Ere the rabbit seemed aware, it had jumped into the midst of these men. It could go no further, but presently nestled down beside a soldier and tried to hide itself under his arm. As the man spread the skirt of his coat over the trembling fugitive, in order to insure it all the protection in his power to bestow, he no doubt feelingly remembered how much he himself then needed some higher protection, under the shadow of whose arm might be hidden his own defenseless head from the fast multiplying missiles of death scattered in all directions.

It was not long, however, before the regiment was ordered up and forward. From the protection and safety granted, the timid creature had evidently acquired confidence in man—as the boys are wont to say, "had been tamed." As the regiment moved forward to the front of the battle, it hopped along, tame, seemingly, as a kitten, close at the feet of the soldier who had bestowed the needed protection.

Wherever the regiment went, during all the remaining part of that bloody day and terrible battle, the rabbit kept close beside its new friend. When night came on, and the rage of battle had ceased, it finally, unmolested and quietly, hopped away, in order to find some one of its old and familiar haunts.

The oath of allegiance has been administered to 14,222 persons in New Orleans.

The draft in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts has been postponed.

B. W. Foley has resigned the office of Provost Marshal of Covington, Ky.

"Well what next?" said Mrs. Partington as she interrupted Ike, who was reading the war news—"the pickets were driven in five miles." "Bless my poor soul, but that will make a strong fence. I suppose they had to be driven in deep to keep the Sessionaders from digging out under them."

An Athenian, who was lame in one foot, having joined the army, was laughed at by the soldiers on account of his lameness. "I am here to fight," said the hero, "not to run."

A hoosier stopped opposite one of our fashionable drinking-saloons, and with his hands deep in his pockets, and the front of his chin turned up, seemed looking with absorbing interest into the interior at an individual luxuriating on a julep, with a straw accompaniment.

"Well, of that ain't a new kink!" he says. "Who'd a thought of such a thing as a green sass drink? How concerned cool that feller sucks it!" soliloquized he moving his body in a sympathetic manner, as if engaged in drawing the fluid himself. "I'll hev a taste of that mixture of I bust a bit," was his conclusion; so in he went.

"What will you take, Sir?" inquired the bar-keeper.

"Just go on and give that feller his lick, 'cause I ain't half so dry as he looks," said our hoosier, pointing to a customer at the other end of the counter.

"Now, Sir?" again said the attentive attendant.

The hoosier reached across the counter, took hold of his collar, and, drawing him close up, whispered in his ear:

"A green sass drink, with all the fixings!" and then he winked his eye familiarly, as if to convey his meaning more fully, that all the ingredients be there.

"Yes, Sir," said the bar-keeper. The mint was fixed in the ice besides it, the sugar piled on top, and the fluid delicately poured over all, a l'Empire; the whole was then commingled, and with the accompanying straw ornament, handed to the customer. He pulled his hands out of his pockets, picked up his glass, and commenced a first suck, then a guffaw, which exercise he continued till the straw squealed with emptiness, whereupon setting it down, he pulled out his bit, and repeating the operation of whispering to the bar-keeper, told him, secretly:

"I've seed through them ar green sass drinks; they're poaty good, all 'cept the ice, and I reckon they're cool enough 'bout that; but, stranger, that fodder stuff is an amazing cute idea for the temperance folks; it's put in, I calculate, to hide the lick!"

Public Sale of Land, Stock and Farming Utensils.

DESKING to remove to another section. I will offer for sale on the 15th day of OCTOBER, the Farm on which I now reside, 2½ miles south of Mayfield, an ½ of a mile from the Mayfield and Lexington Turnpike, and containing 14 and ¾ acres. It is newly improved, the creek is new and has five rooms; it is a cottage and conveniently arranged. There is a fine well or cistern in a few steps of the door and contains an abundance of water even in this dry season. There will be by the day of sale, if there is anything to prevent, about 65 acres of wheat sown; the land is well adapted to the growth of small grain. It is high land and lays well. There is about 25 acres cleared land, the balance is timbered. I will on the same day offer all my stock and farming implements. My stock consists of Horses, Mules, Cattle, Sheep and Hogs, 12 head of Horses, among them six good work and blood Mares, two premium two year old Stallions, one of them an Andalus and Buck Hunter, the other a Yellow Jacket; 15 head of two year old Males that will be ready for work, 12 head of Cattle, seven 1 rood milk Cows, one in milk, and 15 head of very fine sheep, about 50 head of hogs. My farming implements are good; one four Horse Wagon and one two Horse, Plows, Harrows, Gear, &c. &c. One McCormick Reaper run two years and has nothing in repair, one Little Giant for crushing corn, &c., and all very desirable for this season. Also Corn in the field, Hay in the stack &c. &c. Terms made known on the day of sale. For further particulars concerning the farm, enquire of the undersigned or Mr. A. M. Ford, Auctioneer. Sale to commence at 10 o'clock.
